The social evening at the Federated church Wednesday evening given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society proved very enjoyable for the 65 attending.

Rev. George H. Strouse was the speaker of the evening and he gave a clear account of the three years be and Mrs. Strouse spent in the far off land of Africa as missionaries, Rev.

Mr. Strouse opened his talk by telling of the departure from New York, They stopped at Queenstown and London on the way and at last reached the west coast of Africa.

The Bulletin school of methods for housekeepers and cooks which is to be held in Y. M. C. A. hall next week beginning Monday, is to be entirely free. There will be no charge for admission and nothing is to be offered for sale. The lecture demonstrations are to come at a convenient hour for those who will attend as they are to be given at 2.30 and the doors will be open at 1.80.

All types and classes of housekeepers are invited to attend these lecture-demonstrations. Young girls interested the departure from New York. They stopped at Queenstown and London on the way and at last reached the The Bulletin school of methods for False balances in the books kept by Hale were discovered within the past two weeks. Hale was told that he would have to make restitution, and it was several days before auditors went farther back in his accounts to learn that for a period of time extending into the third year Hale had been falsifying his balances.

The total of deficits shown in false balances, it was announced in police court is $2,762,78. Hale began, accordcourt is $2,762.78. Hale began, according to the evidence of the state, by a false balance involving a shortage of $75.85 in 1911. In 1913 the auditors found the items of the account totaled $917.21 less than the balance. In 1913 the shortage was $1,769.72.

lations of Sherman Act.

. In commenting in Washington on the president's message, Representative Mahan of Connecticut said "It is an able state paper, everyone will agree. Especially will the people of New England approve that provision which will confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operation of railroads. If this power had been conferred upon the interstate commerce commission ten years ago, the people of Connecticut would have been spared the humiliation of witnessing the present financial condition of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, to say nothing of the loss to the stockholders of hundreds of millions of dollars. That part of the message which provides penalties and punishment for individuals who use the instrumentality of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn will meet with universal approval. This means that guilt is personal and those officers of trust who violate the law must expect and will receive personal punishment.

"If this provision of the message

Older housekeepers, who have acquired the knack of operating their household machinery smoothly and expect and will receive personal punishment.

"If this provision of the message becomes a law, it will put an end to the violations of the Sherman act by the officers of trust."

"Legislative steps to prevent interlocking directorates and holding companies will, in my judgment, meet with the approval of congress, and will become law. It was testified to before the Pujo investigating committee by one of the wealthiest of bankers that it is in the power of men of great wealth to control through interlocking directorates, the financial policies of banks, and when desired by them to bring about a financial panic.
